

Brian J. Augustine

partner

Brian focuses his practice on complex commercial litigation and transportation law. He chairs the firm's Transportation and Logistics Practice Group.

Brian has served as lead counsel in a wide range of litigation matters in state and federal courts. He represents clients in a diverse range of industries including real estate, IT services, transportation and logistics, blockchain and cryptocurrency, higher education, construction, retail, hospitality and precision manufacturing.

He litigates, mediates and arbitrates commercial disputes involving trade secrets, non-compete enforcement and defense, construction defect claims, mechanic's liens, zoning disputes, fraud claims, class action claims, statutory violations and premises owner/operator liability. Brian also has extensive experience conducting pre-suit investigations and litigation defense of wrongful death and catastrophic injury claims.

In his transportation practice, Brian represents international and domestic carriers, brokers, freight forwarders, third-party logistics providers and shippers in a wide variety of commercial, liability and regulatory matters. He has extensive experience litigating Carmack Amendment claims and related broker-shipper-carrier disputes including those involving trade secrets and other confidential business information. He advises transportation industry clients on licensure, regulatory compliance, contracting practices and operating procedures. He also frequently litigates cargo and liability insurance coverage disputes arising from freight claims and other transportation incidents. Brian is listed in Best Lawyers[®] in the area of Transportation Law.

Brian also brings a unique background to Porter Wright's Crisis Management team. He has years of experience coordinating emergency response protective investigations and crisis management strategies for transportation and industrial incidents.
