

Hannah G. Harris

senior attorney

Hannah focuses her legal practice on employment-based immigration, providing guidance to companies in the healthcare and IT sectors. She advises companies and their employees on nonimmigrant and immigrant visa matters, including H-1B, L-1, E-3 and TN visas, as well as PERM labor certifications, I-140 EB2, EB3, and Schedule A petitions. In addition, Hannah regularly assists clients with I-485 applications to adjust status. Beyond corporate immigration, she enjoys helping individuals with family-based petitions and naturalization applications.

Before becoming an attorney, she worked as a paralegal in Columbus, where she supported corporate clients across immigration, litigation, property loss, workers' compensation, and employment issues. Her passion for immigration law grew during her time as a paralegal, leading her to pursue a law degree in 2017.

While in law school, Hannah was actively involved in leadership and service roles. She served as a member of the Capital University Law Review, a Peer Advisor, and held positions as Vice President and Director of Programming for the Women's Law Association. Additionally, she was a Student Liaison Representative for the Women Lawyers of Franklin County Board and volunteered at the LASC Naturalization Clinics.

Hannah is an active member of the American Immigration Lawyers Association (AILA) and serves as a Pro Bono Liaison for the AILA Ohio Chapter.
